The vein of Ore is a North and South directiof Ore its North and South direction, and has been worked about 750 gards; The Ore and foar that was thrown up, is covered with earth ten by 12 inches deep; whether this earth was 'hirdwin on the ore and flone in order to fearet it, or whether nature has fraged the full on the bank fince the work was done, is a matter of doubt, as is aim the time when the vortews done, for it has as old an appearance, as any of the old fortifications, that are common to be found in this country.

Wear this mine alarge Conque shell was found a few years ago, which had never been used by any person as a blowing horn, as there was ao open-ing from the outside to the small part the fpiral cavity.
